YOUR MEDICAL RECORDS

If you have any medical records that you have not given to us, send or bring them to our office with this completed report. Please tell us if you want us to return them to you. If you are having an interview in our office, bring your medical records, your prescription medicine containers (if available), and this completed report with you.

YOU DO NOT NEED TO ASK DOCTORS OR HOSPITALS FOR ANY MEDICAL RECORDS THAT YOU DO NOT ALREADY HAVE. With your permission, we will request your records. The information that you give us on this report tells us where to request your medical and other records.

Roomer-Lodger Agreements

Different SSI Payment Rates: The SSI program has different monthly benefit rates for different living arrangements. In New York State, SSI payments are usually based on three rates. For 2022, those rates are:

- ◆ Living alone - $928 (includes $87 state supplement)
- ◆ Living with others and paying fair share of household expenses - $864 (includes $23 state supplement)
- ◆ Living in the household of another - $583.67 (includes $23 state supplement)

A person is considered living alone when he or she has set expenses and is independent of anyone else. A person is living with others when they share expenses, such as food, utilities, rent, or mortgage. SSA usually assumes that people living together share certain costs related to food and shelter.

Persons getting the lowest SSI rate: If a person cannot pay the fair share of household expenses (one-half of expenses in a household of two, one-third of expenses in a household of three, etc.), they cannot be considered "living with others." For example, an SSI recipient whose fair share in a parent's home would be $1,000 per month could not possibly pay their share of expenses out of an SSI payment. Unless the SSI recipient can establish a separate living unit, he or she would be considered "living in the household of another" and get paid at the lowest SSI rate.

An SSI recipient can obtain the "living alone rate" by working out a business relationship under a roomer-lodger agreement:

- ◆ This is based on the idea that the adult with a disability pays a flat fee amount per month for shelter costs to the homeowner or lessee (i.e., the primary tenant who rents from a landlord).
- ◆ The homeowner/lessee could be the parent, another relative (other than spouse), or a friend.
- ◆ The amount paid is what the homeowner/lessee would charge anyone else for the room and lodging being provided. They do not "share" household costs. The roomer/lodger's name does not appear on any of the household bills (e.g., electric or gas).
- ◆ This type of living arrangement is only possible if the homeowner/lessee is willing to offer this arrangement to the person. There may be financial circumstances, such as income tax considerations, when such an agreement may not be in the homeowner/lessee's financial best interest.

An SSI recipient can change living arrangements at any time. If a person wishes to establish a roomer-lodger status, he or she should submit a statement from the homeowner/lessee to the Social Security Administration stating how much the SSI recipient is charged as a flat fee per month for room and lodging. The SSI program should accept the agreement and adjust the individual's SSI benefit accordingly. The SSI recipient is then entitled to New York's "living alone" status. The monthly SSI payment would then be based on the $928 living alone rate (minus any countable income).
